

Lectors

Gospel Readers | Proclaimers of the Word | Ministry of reader

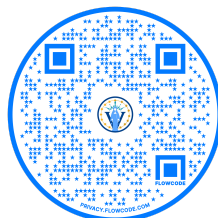

To read the word of God is an act of proclamation. What is being proclaimed? The faith itself.

All liturgical ministers, especially the ministers of the word, must be properly trained for their ministry. The ministry of the word requires skill in public reading, knowledge of the principles of liturgy, and an understanding and a love of the Scriptures. Normally, only properly trained lectors are scheduled for liturgy (LMI, 55).

Lectors are fully initiated (baptized, confirmed and admitted to first Communion), practicing Catholics whose lives witness to the word which they proclaim. They must be in good standing with the Church.

“It is necessary that those who exercise the ministry of reader... Be truly suited and carefully prepared, so that the faithful may develop a warm and living love for Sacred Scripture from listening to the sacred reading”
